'Learning to Live, Living to Learn'

Newsletter - Friday 6th February

HEADTEACHER'S MESSAGE

It has been lovely to welcome some parents in for our Open Maths lessons this week. The children have really enjoyed sharing their learning with their parents and, hopefully, those who have visited have taken away some great tips for supporting their children at home.

Next week is Safer Internet Day in school and we will be having a couple of assemblies on keeping yourself safe online. It feels like a great opportunity to celebrate the amazing things that children can do online but also highlight the potential dangers and think about different ways that we can keep ourselves safe.

The children are also getting very excited as they prepare their dances for our intra-house dance event in school on Monday. I look forward to sharing some of the pictures with you in the next newsletter.

I wanted to share a little personal update with our school community, as I shared the start of the journey in the summer. My wife was recently given the all clear after successful treatment for her cancer diagnosis. She will remain under close supervision of the consultant for a number of years but we are all breathing a huge sigh of relief as a family. I wish to thank the whole school community for its kindness, care and support during this difficult time. Your best wishes have really meant so much to both me and my family.

FAMILY SUPPORT PAGE

Mrs. Francis, our Family Liaison Officer (FLO), has been working hard to create a 'Family Support Page' on the website. On this page there are lots of signposts to useful resources and support for parents. She has updated the page with all sorts of information around online safety, including the use of AI and memes. It is really worth taking the time to have a look at. Also, if you do need any support as a family, you are facing challenging times or you have concerns that you need support with, remember that Mrs Francis is available to speak to and support you.

PREFECT UPDATE

This week at Stocks Green has been another incredible week and we have done lots of fun lessons and activities.

In Year 3 they have been learning about fossils in science and in their French learning they created a French café which has been particularly enjoyable for the Year 3s.

In Year 4, they have been having fun using the Lego Spike resources in their English work where they are focusing on writing instructions. In their history work, they have been learning about Athens and Sparta whereas in science they have been learning about sound and how it travels.

Year 1 this week have had lots of fun writing instructions in order to make a sandwich. By the end of this week, they will have made their own sandwiches and will be able to eat them! In their RE work, however, they have been learning about the religion of Islam and have been retelling the stories of Prophet Mohammed.

In conclusion, Stocks Green has had a wonderful week with exciting activities and incredible lessons.
